HOW TO IDENTIFY AFFECTED MODELS:

1. As to Higdon Item numbers 50033, 50044, 50534, 52053, 52064, 52533, 53012, 53072, 53077, 50734, 52753, 54034, all have a stamped "2021-" (preceding other numbers/letters) on the bottom of the retail packaging (see example of the marking below). If the retail packaging is damaged or unreadable or out of the retail packaging please treat as a 2021 marked affected model.
2. If your retail packaging has no date stamped or if the date stamped begins with anything except 2021 this is NOT an affected model.
3. As to Higdon Item number 99117 (which was sold as the individual replacement battery), the last 3 digits on the bottom right of the sticker for effected models is 21E. See example of the 21E marking below.

Products outside the affected item number range or not marked as manufactured in 2021 on the packaging, as shown in pictures below, are not subject to this notice and may continue to be sold.

WHAT TO DO: Higdon has notified the Consumer Product Safety Commission about this issue and its intention to recall the affected battery packs. For now, please do not sell products in the affected item number range. Please immediately remove any affected products from your retail shelves and segregate them from the rest of your inventory. Distributors please also forward this information to your retailers.

If you identify any affected product please contact John O'Rourke, (308)-249-0335, JohnOrouke@Higdonoutdoors.com for next steps.

Please do not hesitate to contact Higdon with any questions. Higdon is ready to assist you with this process. We want to help make this as smooth as possible for you and keep our customers safe!
